Delayed Infringement Report By Observer System

RRS Appendix E 3.1 is amended by replacing all after the first sentence with the following;

Race observers shall note all incidents involving contact between boats or between boats and a mark. They shall also listen for hails or protest and note the sail number(s) of the boat(s) so hailing. They shall also watch closely for signs of one or more of the boats involved in the incident getting well clear of the fleet to commence a penalty turn.

If a control area has been designated the race observers must remain inside that control area.

If an observer has seen an incident and after a short period of not less than 10 seconds the observer has not seen or heard:

- a) The offender starting to get well clear of the fleet and/or starting her penalty turn or
- a) Any boat involved in the incident hailing “protest” and identifying the other boat(s) involved or
- b) Any boat involved in the incident hailing that it was at fault and that it is about to get well clear of the fleet to commence her penalty turn,

Then the observer shall hail twice the sail number(s) of the boat(s) involved stating that either: a) they have just been seen in contact with a mark or

- c) they have just been seen in contact with another boat(s).

Any boat breaking a rule of the RRS in an incident called by the observer shall be obliged to take two consecutive penalty turns or face a subsequent protest committee hearing.

Race observers shall report all unresolved incidents to the race committee at the end of the race.
